VEGAN / VEGETARIAN

Buddhism is the central religion of Vietnam. As such, both vegetarian and vegan meals have become a mainstay cuisine in Vietnamese culture. Our restaurant will thus cook both our vegetarian and vegan meals separately from our meat dishes. To ensure that the flavour perfectly replicates that history by not having the meat aftertaste that may be present in other establishments.

The Buddhist dietary requirements are quite different with no garlic, onion or chives allowed in the meals on top of the vegan requirements. Thus, many of our meals will be prepared with a variety of different vegetables and fruits to maintain that multiple layers of flavours that are found in Vietnamese cuisine.

As mentioned before, we will try our best to cater to the vegan diet whilst keeping the original flavour of the dish. Thus, both egg and dairy products will be kept to a minimum for this purpose.

To ensure your dietary requirements are met please advise our staff.

The de'gustations in our restaurant are carefully selected to complement each other.

This is to ensure the balance of Ying and Yang of the meal, an essential principle of Vietnamese dining.

This balance would highlight and heighten the flavour of the meals allowing it to be further enjoyed.

These de'gustations are of a French style, meaning that each dish will be individually served separately and are not for sharing.

This is to tap into Vietnam's French history by emulating the high dining service of that time. We hope you enjoy our selections.
